

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Identify and describe events in the news in a range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What do you think has changed the most in the last 75 years? Sports? Dating? Friendships?
- How do you feel when you think about the future of these things? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about friendship and relationships.
- I can talk about people's past experiences, and past habits.
- I can talk about feelings and reactions.

Let's Explore!

Sally reaches out to her readers. She wants to know what their opinions are.

* To "reach out" means you try to communicate with someone.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

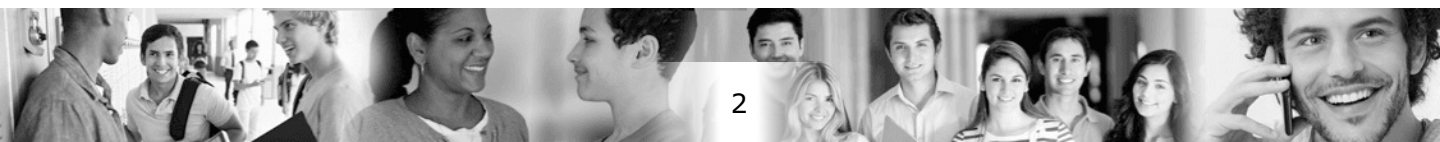

Dear Readers,

This week, I've blogged about how things nowadays are different from the way that they were in the past. I interviewed George, who talked about how he and his friends used to spend their days when they were young. He talked about how they would spend a lot of time outdoors being carefree and innocent and how they would meet up with other friends to sing along and act out popular songs. What's your opinion on what George used to do with his friends? Are those things that you've done as well?

I also spoke with Gail. She told me what dating used to be like in her day. Do you agree with her when she says that kids these days have no boundaries or limits? Did you use to have any boundaries? Do you agree that the dating situation has changed a lot?

Another topic which I've become very interested in is how schools have changed over the years. Does your school have a blackboard and a teacher standing on a dais? Can you choose which classes you sign up for? How have schools changed since your parents were students? Tell me what you think!

Sally

Let's Practice!

Tell me how you feel!

Instructions: Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor. Use the sentences to model a conversation with your partner. Switch roles.

1. Another topic which I've become very interested in is how schools have changed.
2. I think listening to older generations' stories is so interesting.
3. I'm fascinated by the history of sports.
4. Listening to old records is exciting.
5. Dating today can be both terrifying and compelling.

Let's Practice!

Hey, I've *come across some sentences for you to unscramble.

*Remember that phrasal verbs have a verb and a particle.

Instructions: Organize the mystery sentence. Move each word to place it in the correct order.

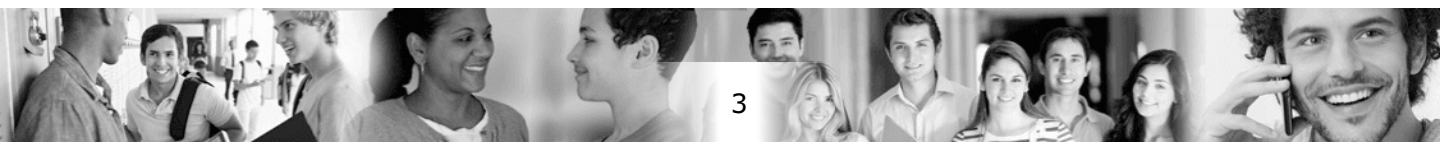

1. in / up / they / would / their / . / Back / friends / meet / with / day,

2. . / along / to / used / with / to / George / popular / artists / sing

3. Teddy / . / popular / loved / out / to / songs / act

4. which / Can / for / you / you / up / classes / ? / sign / choose

5. always / up / . / class / for / showed / I

Extension Activity

Take a survey.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Use the chart below to take a survey of people's opinions about one of these topics: online dating, celebrity sports players, schools today.
- Take notes in the chart.
- Prepare a written summary of people's opinions.
- Share your information with a partner.
- Discuss the results.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I take a survey about one or two topics.

☐
☐

I write a summary of people's opinions.

☐
☐

I share the information with a partner.

☐
☐

I talk about people's opinions with a partner.

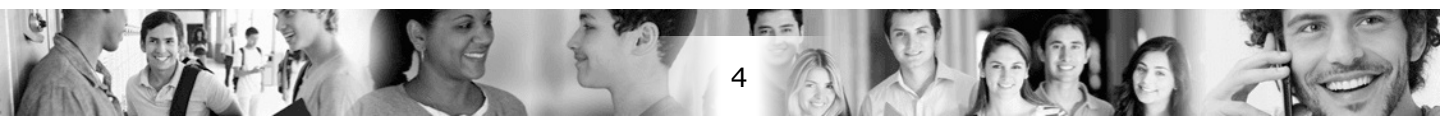

☐
☐

Topic	In the past ...	Nowadays ...

Target Words

- carefree (adjective): without worries
e.g. We were carefree when we were children.
- to sing along (verb): to sing at the same time as a piece of music
e.g. We would listen to and sing along with the songs.
- to act out (verb): to recreate a scene or behavior
e.g. Gordie was super at acting out Elvis songs.
- to sign up (verb): to register
e.g. Students often signed up for whatever subjects they wanted.
- innocent (adjective): pure; not corrupted
e.g. Those were the days: young, innocent and free!
- dais (noun): a raised platform
e.g. The teacher used to stand on the dais at the front of the room.
- blackboard (noun): a surface that teachers write on with chalk.
Example: There was a blackboard at the front of the classroom.
- to meet up (verb): to meet with someone or some people
e.g. We used to meet up at our secret hiding place.
- boundary (noun): a limit of a subject or area of activity
e.g. Social media accounts give kids no boundaries within which to function.
- limit (noun): boundary
e.g. Being a teenager is about pushing boundaries and testing limits, right?

Learning Points

Phrasal Verbs

Phrasal verbs consist of a verb and one or more prepositions or adverbs (called participles). They are common, especially in informal spoken English. The meaning of phrasal verbs is often completely different from the meaning of the verb alone.

Phrasal verbs can either be separable or inseparable.

Separable phrasal verbs always require an object.

The object of a phrasal verb can go either between the verb and the preposition or after the preposition.

Examples:

I handed in my homework.

I handed my homework in.

If the object of the sentence is a pronoun, it must go between the two parts of the phrasal verb.

Examples:

I handed it in.

Some phrasal verbs are inseparable, so the verb must be directly followed by its preposition or adverb. Otherwise, the meaning of the phrasal verb will be incorrect.

Some inseparable phrasal verbs never use an object.

Examples:

- get up = get out of bed

I get up at seven o'clock every morning.

- take off = leave the ground

The plane took off on time.

- look out = beware! be careful!

Look out! That car is going to hit you!

Learning Points

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
to meet up	to meet someone
to act out	to recreate a scene or behavior
to come out	to be released
to sign up	to register
to show up	to attend

Examples:

- They would meet up with friends.
- Can you choose which classes you sign up for?

The Present Perfect Tense vs The Simple Past

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about an action or event that is connected to the present in some way.

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about a finished action or event not connected to the present.

It is common to mix both the Simple Past and Present Perfect when you tell anecdotes or reminisce about the past.

When you can use the Present Perfect there is a connection between what happened in the past and now. You use time markers like for, just, ever, during, with the Present Perfect.

When you can use the Simple Past the time is always past. You use time markers connected with the past like then, ago, yesterday, when I was ... with the Simple Past.

Examples:

- I've blogged about how things nowadays are different from the way they were in the past.
- I interviewed George, who talked about how he and his friends used to spend their days when they were young.

